

www.BuildingStapleton.com

The Emerson

The Row Homes at Stapleton

We have only one word to say: turret.

Tuck-Under Row Home

Tuck-Under Avenue Row Home

Tuck-Under Paseo Row Home

Turrets are just plain cool. From the outside, they make a home look stately and sophisticated. On the inside, they bring in huge amounts of light and introduce a new shape to the room layout. The Emerson has a great turret, with 30" x 60" windows on three of its sides and 10" x 60" windows on two other sides. On the main level, the turret is part of the living room, but on the second level it's part of your master bedroom. Which, of course, makes it even more cool.

The Emerson, Plan 3633
1,608 finished square feet
3 bedrooms
2.5 baths
2 car garage
Rear deck over garage

MCSTAIN[®]
NEIGHBORHOODS

1 A spacious study has a railing that overlooks the living room. (That way you can be paying bills and step to the railing to catch Letterman's Top Ten List.)

2 Being on the end of the building gives you a whole extra wall of windows.

3 Add an angled fireplace to the living room and you get a space that's practically irresistible.

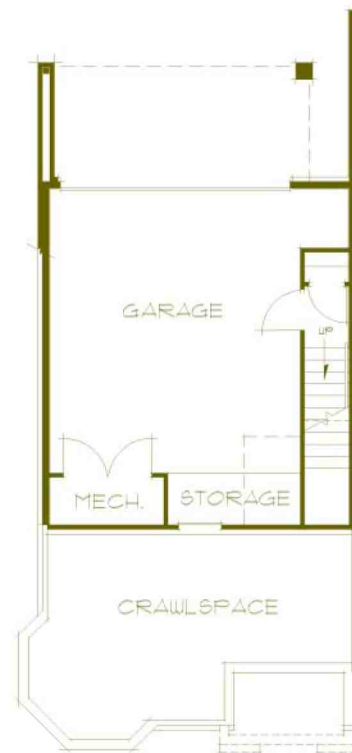

4 Both upstairs bathrooms have windows. That helps with everything from putting on makeup to making sure you grab the right toothbrush.

The Emerson

The Row Homes at Stapleton

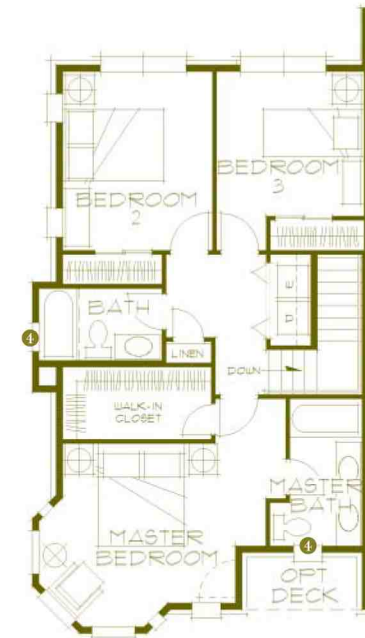

www.BuildingStapleton.com

LOWER LEVEL

MAIN LEVEL

UPPER LEVEL

The Emerson, Plan 3633
 1,608 finished square feet
 3 bedrooms
 2.5 baths
 2 car garage
 Rear deck over garage

McSTAIN[®]
 NEIGHBORHOODS